Dear Mr. Lynd—
Thank you ever so much—that was a very good review you did my father wrote— very good indeed he was greatly pleased with it—I have ordered a dozen copies here, but have not got them yet—most grateful by an for doing it so sympathetically

W. B. is just crossing to London. but we won't see him as he is going right through

Very many thanks

Yours
P. C. Roberts

It is an acre of land for the Board — There is a bridge 200 years old — a stepping stone said to be of great antiquity — his wife is very pretty, clever, very young — & holds the same interests as he has — they have been friends for some years — we have had letter from them both since the marriage -

- & he is writing every day - The new book is not to go out for Review - as this is the nature of a 1st edition a edition de luxe - Macmillan will bring it out later on - but I want to sell all our edition 400 before his cheaper edition comes out - hence my eagerness for a paragraph to announce it - I hope you will soon be strong again With kindest regards to you both yours truly

Dear Mr. Lynd -

I am so sorry that you have been knusched up too - I knew Sylvia had not been sharp - my own feeling is wonder that anyone is well who has to live & work in London now - Of course I knew the paragraph about W.B. marriage in 'The Daily News' was not done by you - it was with the kind of paragraph you would write - Why not write yourself to him a few words of congratulation? - all letters are sent on from the Savile Club Piccadilly.

They are still down in Sussex - but hope to be over here in December & then for on to Galway where you know he has bought an Elizabethan Castle & is getting it repaired & made habitable.
The Ballylee Castle 3 miles from Port - & it used to be on the Fugony land - they sold to the Congested Districts Board & W-B bought
