

October 8th

Dear Mr. H. B.;

Your review of my book has just reached me up here in the woods where I am working. It is the only one I've seen so far that outlines what I was trying to do in the story.
I didn't know I was writing a cross-word puzzle. Can you think of repeating the same pattern, in the same sequence, forever, like an insect.

Might I ask you to send me another copy of that notice?
I'd like one to send to my French publisher and translator. It indicates my puzzle theme, too, and you review from the content of it better than I could, I'm sure.

Sincerely yours
Willis Guther

Walter C. Allen

The Shattuck Inn

To "H.B."

Editor of "Book on Our Table"

New York Evening Post

New York City

Editorial Office

N. Y.

About the review of "The Professor's House" in 1925-

#386f