MEMOIRS OF THE LIFE OF

Sir Stephen Fox, Kt.

FROM HIS

First Entrance upon the Stage of Action, Under the Lord Piercy, till his Decease.

Wherein are inserted, many Curious Incidents and Passages not mention'd in the Great Earl of Clarendon's History, during the Reigns of King Charles and King James the Second, King William, and the late Queen Anne; as also during the two First Years of his present Majesty King George: With an Account of that most excellent Patriot's diffusive Charities and Benefactions.

To which is added,

A succinct Account of his Will and Testament, with the Particulars of the Legacies bequeath'd therein to his Relations and Friends; together with some memorable Transactions relating to his Son Charles Fox, Esq; likewise deceas'd; with a Copy of the Schedule annex'd to his Last Will and Testament, wherein are also contain'd the respective Legacies he left behind him; faithfully extracted from the Prerogative Office in Doctors Commons.

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS
The DUKE of YORK.

S I R,

O find a Royal English EDWARD, a naval commander of Great-Britain, must elate the heart of every English subject; but much more the injur'd and oppress'd female, who has the honour to inscribe to your Royal Highness the ensuing pages.

WHERE can the daughter of an English admiral, labouring under the misconceiv'd prejudice of friends, and the still worse misrepresentations of designing enemies, fly for patronage but to illustrious EDWARD,

“ The pride and glory of “ our British youths.

“ Whose heart with gen'rous “ pity glows;

“ Who feels the blessing he “ bestows.”

render'd the object of universal love and esteem.

To enumerate the virtues,
graces, and accomplishments, that gave rise to this tide of popular affection, is not the province of a pen so unskill'd as mine, in the soft phrase of elegant description.

THE heart-winning words, the praise-exciting actions, of the accomplish'd young Hero, are his best harbingers to the temple of Fame; where that

 T was long a matter of dispute with me, whether I should trouble the world with a recital of my story or not; I saw before me, the numerous train of dangers and difficulties that must accompany such an attempt; yet it was impossible entirely to relinquish the desire to do it, without tacitly submitting my character and my actions to the malevolent censure of
