Eminent Persons.

WHAT EMINENT PEOPLE IN ENGLAND SAY.

LADY HENRY SOMERSET.

Philanthropist, President National British Temperance Association, President World's Christian Temperance Union, established and edited "Woman's Signal"

"'What a Young Woman Ought to Know' is an extremely valuable book, and I wish that it may be widely circulated."

WHAT EMINENT PEOPLE IN ENGLAND SAY.

REV. F. B. MEYER, B.A.

Minister of Christ Church, Westminster, London, Author of "Israel, A Prince with God," "Elijah; Tried by Fire," "The Bells of Is," etc., etc.

"The questions which are dealt with in the 'Self and Sex Series' of books are always being asked, and if the answer is not forthcoming from pure and wise lips it will be obtained through vicious and empirical channels. I therefore greatly commend this series of manuals, which are written lucidly and purely, and will afford the necessary information without pandering to unholy and sensual passion. There has been, in my judgment, too much reticence on the whole of this subject, and nameless sins have originated in ignorance or in the directions given to young life by vicious men. I should like to see a wide and judicious distribution of this literature among Christian circles."

WHAT EMINENT PEOPLE IN ENGLAND SAY.

MRS. LAURA ORMISTON CHANT.

Philanthropist, Reformer, Lecturer, Composer and Author.

"I have read 'What a Young Woman Ought to Know' with great care and appreciation, and have no hesitation in saying that both its matter and manner are admirable, and the book ought to be in the hand of every girl on her fifteenth birthday, as a safe guide and teacher along the difficult path of womanhood.

"Many a young life is shipwrecked for want of knowledge of the right sacred sort. This book is pre-eminently religious, scientific and common-sensed."

WHAT EMINENT PEOPLE IN AMERICA SAY.

MRS. MAY WRIGHT SEWALL.

Principal of the Girls' Classical School; former President of the International Council of Women; and Nominee of the International Congress of Women.

"I am profoundly grateful that a subject of such information to young women should be treated in a manner at once so noble and so delicate that any pure-minded teacher or mother may read or discuss its pages with young girls without the slightest chance of wounding the most delicate sensibilities, or by being misunderstood."

WHAT EMINENT PEOPLE IN AMERICA SAY.

MRS. MARY LOWE DICKINSON.

Former President of the National Council of Women; General Secretary of the Order of The King's Daughters; Emeritus Professor of Literature Denver University; Editor of "The Silver Cross;" Author of "The Temptation of Katharine Gray," "One Little Life," etc., etc.

"Any young woman, knowing all that this volume teaches, has an essential foundation for whatever other knowledge she may acquire."

WHAT EMINENT PEOPLE IN AMERICA SAY.

MRS. MATILDA B. CARSE.

Founder of the Woman's Temple, Chicago.

"As a mother, I can truly say that my heart goes out to you in endorsement of this book. It is pure and instructive on the delicate subjects that mean so much to our daughters, to their future as homekeepers, wives and mothers, and to the future generations. It can but create a more reverent ideal of life in every girl who reads it, and I wish every daughter in the land could reap of its benefit."

WHAT EMINENT PEOPLE IN AMERICA SAY.

MRS. ELIZABETH CADY STANTON.

Noted Woman Suffragist, Lecturer, and Author.

"Your books I consider a valuable addition to the literature of the day on social ethics. The many facts you state are not only important for a knowledge of social science, but involve good health and morals.

"The life of many a boy and girl is totally wrecked through the abuse of relations most sacred in their highest uses. As thought precedes all action, it is important to keep the mind occupied on the most exalted views of all questions."

WHAT EMINENT PEOPLE IN AMERICA SAY.

CHARLES N. CRITTENTON.

Founder of the National Florence Crittenton Mission.

"The frequent excuse which parents give for not enlightening their children on these most important points is that they have never known how to do so. This excuse can no longer be considered valid.

"Dr. Wood-Allen has a remarkable gift in the facility and refinement with which she is able to approach the most delicate subject without arousing a single morbid and sensitive impulse."

WHAT EMINENT PEOPLE IN AMERICA SAY.

MRS. HELEN CAMPBELL.

Dean of the Department of Household Economics in the Kansas State Agricultural College. Author of "Prisoners of Poverty," "Wage Earners," etc., etc.

"I cannot speak too warmly of your invaluable series. There is hardly a woman in America so thoroughly qualified by education, long experience, deep sympathies, and, most excellent of all gifts, as deep common sense, as Dr. Mary Wood-Allen, to meet the growing need, or rather the growing sense of need. Mothers and fathers alike will be helped and enlightened by these simple, clear-phrased, wholesome books, and they deserve all the success already their own."

WHAT EMINENT PEOPLE IN AMERICA SAY.

MRS. LILLIAN M. N. STEVENS.

President of National Woman's Christian Temperance Union

"There is great need of carefully, delicately-written books upon the subjects treated in this series. I am gratefully glad that the author has succeeded so well, and I trust great and enduring good will be the result."
